

The School of Communications Welcomes You to the 2008

What is the Webbies?

The Webbies is a showcase of the best student work in the School of Communications. Students can submit work in 11 categories. Entries are then sorted and delivered to our judges. Professionals working within the 11 categories are selected to judge the entries and give constructive feedback to the students while selecting nominees for each category.

When is the Webbies?

The Webbies will be held on Monday April 7 at 7:00 p.m.

Where is the Webbies?

The award ceremony will be held in the beautiful Loretto-Hilton Center.

Who will be at the Webbies?

Webster students, parents, faculty and alumni will be in attendance. Don't be surprised if professionals in the communications field will also be present.

What's in it for me?

A Webbies award will look excellent on a resume.

You will have the chance to have your work critiqued by professionals in your field of study.

It provides networking opportunities for future jobs and internships.

You have a chance to be recognized among your peers and professors.

What do I wear?

Professional attire is appropriate for this event.

Who is eligible to submit work for the Webbies?

Anyone in the School of Communications, including our international campuses.

How do I submit my work?

Entry forms can be picked up at the UC front desk. Students must submit three copies of each entry on three separate CDs or DVDs, whichever is appropriate. Each CD/DVD may contain more than one entry.

When is the deadline for submissions?

Deadline is 5 p.m., Friday, February 29.

Join us on Monday April 7. It's a night you won't want to miss.
